Avalanche Price Increases to 35¢

This issue the Avalanche increases in price from 25 cents a copy to 35 cents a copy.

Subscriptions also have increased from $10 to $12 for area residents and from $11 to $13 for subscribers outside our five-county area. Senior citizens above 55 still receive a $1 off on subscriptions.

The last increase in price for the Avalanche was from 20 to 25 cents a copy on June 1, 1981. Increased printing costs and postal expenses are two reasons for the new price.

Sunday Fire Damages Michigan Avenue Residence

A fire at the 702 Michigan Avenue residence of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Weiss Sunday, Feb. 28, caused extensive damage to one end of the house. The fire started around the fireplace and went into a wall and then the attic, said Grayling Fire Chief Russ Strohpaal. Mrs. Weiss was home at the time but no persons were reported injured.

Strohpaal said the fire also spread into the basement beneath the hearth and caused a lot of damage there. The fire was reported by a neighbor at 3:30 p.m. The Beaver Creek Fire Dept., Crawford County Ambulance Corps, and Northern Emergency Medical Service were all on stand-by and Grayling City Police and sheriff deputies assisted at the fire.

Recovered Stolen Property Still Needs To Be Identified

Stolen property taken from garages and vehicles along Roberts Road and nearby subdivisions in the early morning hours of Tuesday, Feb. 23, still has not all been identified.

Crawford County Sheriff deputies said two Grayling men were arrested in connection with the breaking and enterings and about $500 in goods were recovered. About a half dozen recovered items still have not been identified. The sheriff dept. is asking anyone in that area with items missing, to call the dept. Police said only items from unlocked vehicles or garages were taken.

Overdue Young Skier Found

Matthew Fitch, 10, of Roscommon, was found about 8:00 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 24, shortly after he was reported lost while cross-country skiing on trails north of the North Higgins Lake State Park.

Crawford County sheriff deputies, marine division deputies, and a city reserve policeman helped locate the skier as he was coming out of a trail road leading west onto Old 27, just south of W. Fletcher.

Hanson Hills Receives $25,000 DNR Grant

By Don Geiss

The Grayling Recreational Authority has received a grant of $25,000 from the Department of Natural Resources for a Recreation and Tourism Development project.

The contract for the project states that the development will include the expanding and improving of the cross country ski trails and lighting at Hanson Hills. Specific details of all the aspects of construction that can be authorized under the grant are being asked of the DNR by the Hanson Hills officials.

Indications are that some of the funds will be applied to trail improvement. The trails will be widened to accommodate the new type of skiing which is a skating technique. Some funds may also be spent for lighting the trails although it has been suggested that the majority of cross country skiers at Hanson Hills prefer using the facilities during daylight hours.

Specific plans are now being detailed by the authority and when available will be announced.

Paper, Cardboard Recycling To Begin At Landfill

By Don Geiss

The Crawford-Otsego County Joint Landfill Authority will in the near future begin its own waste paper and cardboard recycling program at the landfill site.

County Commissioner John Miller told the commission at the meeting last week that the authority will construct a 40 foot by 60 foot building to house a bailer and shredder to handle the waste. He pointed out that 10 cents of the cost of each ton of compacted waste brought to the landfill by commercial haulers has been set aside to support recycling projects. The intent is to use that money to undertake the recycling through the authority rather than make contributions to projects others suggest in the two-county area.

Miller said that the next step will be for the authority to begin recycling the many appliances now at the landfill and to begin hauling in additional pieces for that purpose. He indicated that an attempt would be made to obtain persons on general assistance to work for the county to separate the various types of metals in the appliances and get them ready for sale to a metal recycling company. He said that in addition to the appliances which are set aside at the landfill site, there is probably $30 to $40 thousand worth of metal buried each year.

On another matter dealing with the landfill, a letter was sent to the commissioners from Bill Coy, Maple Forest Township supervisor, requesting that residents of that township be given free dumping privileges. It was noted in the letter that no answer had been given in writing to a letter about free dumping written last August.

The letter pointed out that the township receives no license fees or tax revenues from the landfill, roads are damaged by the traffic to the landfill and there is a concern about the contamination of the drinking water. In reply Miller pointed out that the land used is state property and the township would not receive much in the way of taxes no matter what the use. Funds for the upkeep of roads do not come through the county and the condition is a question that should be considered by the road commission. The concern for the quality of the drinking water is not a valid one according to Miller because tests show that any contamination of the ground water is moving toward the west and so slowly that it will probably never affect any residents. It was also pointed out that free dumping privileges would not solve any problem of water contamination.

County Begins Emergency Planning To Deal With Industrial Hazardous Chemicals

By Don Geiss

Plans are being laid in Crawford County to have an inventory of all industrial chemical hazardous material and to formulate emergency systems to control any dangerous situation arising from the use of the chemicals.

Governor James Blanchard has appointed a committee in each county to make an individual study of every location where there are chemicals that could create an emergency situation. That committee will also then write a detailed plan for responding to any emergency at each of the locations.

Congress passed Emergency Planning and Right to know legislation as a part of the Superfund Toxic Cleanup Amendments. It was signed into law last October and the plans and information must be formulated by this October.

The local committee met in an organizational session last week and named Garland (Bud) Joyce as its chairman. Joe Newman was elected vice chairman and Don Geiss was appointed to the office of Coordinator of Information.

Howard Taylor was appointed by Joyce as the emergency coordinator for the committee. Taylor and Newman reported briefly on a workshop which they attended regarding carrying out the project. They said that each site which holds hazardous chemicals has instructions to formulate an elaborate report about those chemicals and turn over a copy to the committee.

It was noted that the larger companies such as Georgia Pacific and Weyerhaeuser are aware of the report procedures and indeed have already complied. Other companies may not realize that they must submit that report and any who suspect that they might have such chemicals should inquire as to their status, Taylor and Newman added.

The committee will meet on the first Wednesday of each month at the Grayling High School Library beginning at 7:30 p.m. The meetings will be open to the public in compliance with the Open Meetings Act.

Other members of the committee include Larry Mattis, Dave Frederick, John Keir, Harold Hatfield, Paul Lerg, Steve Doyle, Al Leng, Tony Doremire and Ed Schoonover.

JAIL SPACE

Sheriff Harold Hatfield discussed the problems to the county if the Traverse City State Mental Hospital were to close. (See related story.) He also seriously questioned the lack of space at the jail. He pointed out that there are now 24 persons in the jail plus one female prisoner at the Otsego County Jail. Two additional inmates will be transported to the jail next week, he said.

Hatfield requested that the commissioners authorize a cost estimated for accessing an existing bathroom to the recreation room in the jail. He pointed out that there is a bathroom available from another room so making it available to persons in the recreation room would only mean opening a wall and finishing it off. Once that is done, he said, cots could be placed in the recreation room to handle an overflow of inmates.

The commissioners authorized obtaining the estimates at the same time discussing the future needs of an addition to the jail. Hatfield said that sometime during the next tenure of a sheriff it will become essential to look at an addition.

Hatfield also discussed with the commissioners the need for pouring a concrete floor in the outdoor recreation space. The sheriff's discussion about space needs led to a general conversation about the lack of ample space in the County Building. It was agreed that there would be some space available in the annex building now that the Lottery operation has moved but that it would only be temporary relief. It was noted that additional space is needed now for the Prosecuting Attorney.

TROUT FISHING MUSEUM

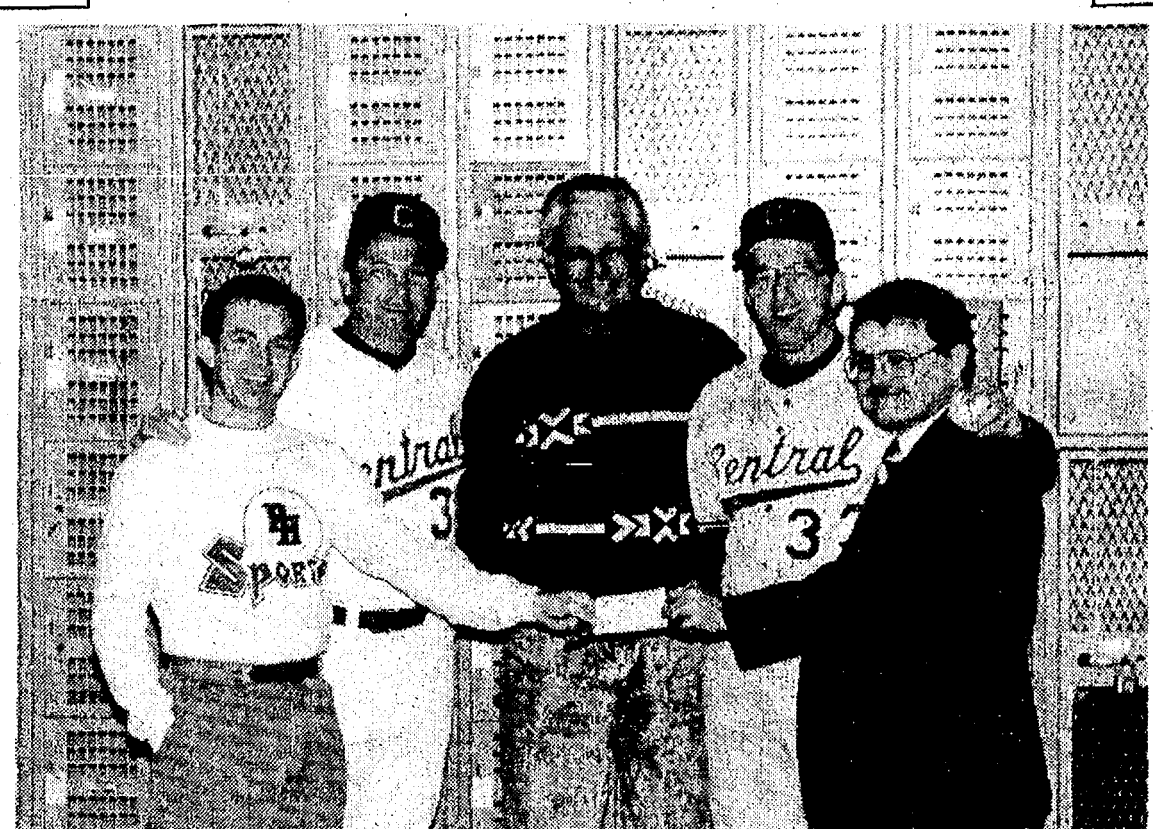

Fish Hatchery Committee Chairman Bob Smock discussed with the commissioners questions that have arisen about the possibility of a museum in the present Department of Natural Resources Headquarters in Grayling. He noted that although the commissioners had submitted plans to the DNR which were officially recognized, a newly formed group has been making plans to use the space for a Trout Fishing Museum.

Smock told the commissioners that he has met with that group and told them they were welcome to place a member on the Fish Hatchery Committee. He said that he has explained to them that the committee already has a plan for a museum which they would be welcome to help carry out. Smock indicated that he has had no sign that the

T.C. Mental Hospital Closing Will Cost County Extra Money

By Don Geiss

Closing the state Mental Hospital in Traverse City will cause problems at the Crawford County Sheriff Department because transportation of patients will be much more costly.

According to Sheriff Harold Hatfield, the transportation of violent patients is the responsibility of the department and would require much more time if the Traverse City facility closes. He pointed out that the closest state institutions will be neither Kalamazoo or Newberry.

Hatfield said that normally two deputies are required for the transport and must wait at the hospital until there is a clear disposition of the case. It might be, he said, that hospital officials will send the patient back home and require that he/she be taken again to the hospital for further tests.

The Crawford County Board of Commissioners also voted in opposition to the closing of the hospital at their regular meeting last week. They agreed with Hatfield that it would place an unnecessary cost for transportation on the county. Hatfield noted that there were 11 patients taken to the Traverse City facility last year with four of them taken during a period of six weeks.

Tony Colasacco, director of North Central Michigan Community Health Services, told the commissioners that his board did not vote for or against the closing of the hospital. He said that they are aiming at attempting to convince private hospitals to increase the number of beds for mental patients. He said that it is cheaper for the health service to house mental patients in private facilities in the long run because many of them are eligible for Medicaid or Medicare. He commented that at the state hospital the money for care must come from the health service budget for all patients.

Commissioners expressed concern that the health service board might not be able to accomplish its goal and thus the longer transport runs would become a reality. Hatfield said that at least one private facility has a policy which will not permit the acceptance of violent patients.

The Traverse City hospital received word recently that it must close by October and local organizations there are fighting the decision. Recently they called a meeting of area law enforcement officials, prosecuting attorneys, and judges to discuss with them the drawbacks to the closing. In addition to the transport problem they pointed out the families would be forced to travel much greater distances for visits.

The hospital statistics also show that of 522 admissions in 1987, 371 were emergency situations. These it is pointed out are a danger to themselves and/or others. A community setting, such as that pushed by many groups would not be the kind of treatment they needed, a report commented.

Opponents of the hospital closing have been advised to write to their state legislators, the governor and to Thomas Watkins, director of the Department of Mental Health.

Chamber Aims To Improve Guard-Community Relations

By Don Geiss

A tabloid newspaper publication targeted to assist National Guard personnel in locating services and points of interest in this area, is nearing completion by a committee of the Grayling Regional Chamber of Commerce.

The chamber Board of Directors is steering the compilation of the paper under the chairmanship of Randy Thompson. The intent is to have the paper completed in time to see that guard personnel have a copy prior to their arrival at camp for annual training.

According to Thompson, 60,000 of the papers will be printed and about 40,000 will be distributed to the guard at their local stations. The remainder will be placed in local motels and areas of high military traffic this summer. Chamber secretary Chris Holtz is currently completing solicitations for advertising in the tabloid. Thompson said that articles about things to see and do in the area will be completed at about the same time that the ad layout is due to be finished.

At the recent chamber Board of Directors meeting members were asked to approve a study completed by a committee of recommendations for the chamber and National Guard to carry out to improve relations. Included in the recommendations for the chamber to carry out was the development of a fact sheet of information about the guard including financial impact, numbers of troops and release time for recreation.

The paper recommended to the guard that a public relations person not in the guard be employed who has a media or public relations background. It also suggested educating the community about vehicle markings so that it will aid the reporting of incidents.

Also discussed by the board was another Las Vegas Night to be held in the near future and a Golf Tournament to be held during a time when guard personnel could participate.

A major function that is being tentatively planned is a raffle of a log cabin or chalet home. The board has asked for a study of the cost of the different homes to determine the style that would draw the most interest from participants in the raffle. The study would also help to decide the best buy for the money to the chamber and the potential ticket purchasers.

It was also announced at the meeting that a ribbon cutting would be held at 4 p.m. on March 4 for the Ivie Girls Clothing Store located at the Mercantile Mall on Michigan Avenue.

Boone, Teddy Receive Academy Nominations

Cong. Bill Schuette was in Grayling last week to meet with his two service Academy nominees from Crawford County, Jim Boone and Jason Teddy. These two young men will now compete with nine others from the 10th Cong. District for appointments to the class of 1992.

Boone, the 17-year-old son of William and Carolyn Boone of Hillside Farm Road, was nominated for the Military Academy at West Point, New York. He was born in Dearborn and attended the Gibson School for the Gifted until the family moved to Grayling in 1974. He is now a senior at the Calvary Baptist Academy. He is interested in politics and football. If he gets an appointment he hopes to study International Affairs and Broadcast Journalism.

Teddy, the 18-year-old son of Kevin and Connie Teddy of AuSable Trail and Margaret Teddy of Petoskey, was nominated for the Naval Academy at Annapolis, Maryland. He was born in Ann Arbor but spent most of his early years in Petoskey until his father was transferred to Grayling in the spring of 1986. In high school he has participated in band, football and baseball. If appointed, he hopes to study for aviation or medicine. He has been contacted by the Naval Academy baseball coach to invite him to participate in that sport at the Academy.

Chief Shoppenagons Seeks Greyhound Bus Service

Greyhound bus service has not been available in Grayling since last August despite efforts by a local business to arrange to be the approved agent.

Until August, the E-Z Mart at the south edge of Grayling was the agent. Its owner opted to give up the service because there was not enough space available for passengers to wait and still have room for the regular customers of the mart. At that time it was noted that the Greyhound representative did not appear on the scene until the last day of service had arrived. Later it was reported in the Avalanche that Barry McClanahan of Bear's Country Inn was attempting to contact a representative of the company to serve as the agent.

McClanahan reported that he never was successful in obtaining a contract. There was only a promise from the company representative that he would appear on the scene and provide the necessary tickets, literature and details. Finally, he said, the Inn gave up the idea of serving as agent.

Last week Mary Harland, manager of Chief Shoppenagons Motor Hotel, indicated that she is now in the process of obtaining the service. She said that a contact with another individual who is an official of the company will hopefully yield better results. She commented that the hotel would be an excellent location for the service since it has the large lobby for waiting and restaurant service for bus meal stops.

If Harland is successful it will mean the first time in seven months that Grayling residents can purchase tickets here and be able to depend on a regular bus stop.

County Commissioners

new group would work with his committee but instead appears to be continuing to forge ahead with their own plans.

Commissioners pointed out that meetings have been held with DNR officials and that they have had their plan for utilizing the DNR property looked on with favor. They noted that anyone intending to use a part of the property once the legislation is passed turning it over to the county, will be required to obtain county approval.

INCREASED CASELOAD

The commissioners were requested by Prosecuting Attorney John Huss to allow an increase in the hours of work for Ann Stephenson from 21 hours per week to 27½ hours. He noted in a letter that his secretary Penney Shepherd is in need of help because the caseload is on the increase. Extra work mandated by the state has also caused her to fall behind on her work, he stated. The commissioners recognized the increased work placed on the office and approved the increase in hours.

The Chief Shoppenagons team of SHEILA PALMER, LOTTIE ROCHETTE, TRACY HULL, and TIM ZIGLA won the 1st ever Pictionary Olympics last Thursday at the Knights of Columbus Hall.

The Avalanche team of JANET HARRISON, JIM MCCLAIN, ELLEN THOMPSON, and CARRIE MAYES took 2nd and the St. Mary's team of BOB NOLAN, VICKI BEDARD, RICH OLIVER, and ANNE OLIVER took 3rd out of 16 teams.

The Avalanche team also was given the Team Congeniality Award and they may have also won an award for Best Bribe offered to Judge Alton Davis during the fun event to raise money for the Milltown Festival.

The Pictionary Olympics started at 7:00 for teams to check in and lasted until after midnight. Even though I didn't attend the event, I know it lasted that long because the Avalanche team — for some unknown reason — felt they had to call me all night long with updates on how they were doing.

I was an enthusiastic supporter the first few calls, but by the last call at 12:10 a.m., they had lost my loyal backing.

Speaking of time, no one will ask me for the correct time for awhile.

I failed to catch the time zone difference in the new T.V. Listings we started publishing last week. Video Viewing, of Little Rock, Arkansas, is providing us with the new service and they had our television shows here listed as beginning an hour early. Between the Eastern and Central Time Zones and Michigan going on and off Daylight Saving Time, Video Viewing sent us T.V. listings an hour off. If I watched more television, I might have caught the mistake before it was published. Anyways, this week's listings should have the right times.

Almanack

Proceed with caution, Governor

by Richard Millman

IS THERE ANYTHING new under the sun in politics and government? Michigan Gov. James Blanchard thinks so.

In his annual appearance before the Michigan Press Association a while back, Gov. Blanchard claimed his annual "State of the State" message included 100 or so new programs for state government — many of them not even touched in news coverage of his message.

One of his new ideas, he told the MPA, was a program to promote Michigan's agricultural products. Michigan farmers produce great stuff, Gov. Blanchard reasoned, but not enough people knew about it.

WHY NOT A "Seal of Quality" for Michigan's top farm products, the governor reasoned, sort of like the Good Housekeeping "Seal of Approval"?

Now there's a new idea for you.... or is it? The Seal of Quality idea for Michigan farm products has been around quite a while. I remember reporting about it during the late Gov. G. Mennen Williams era back in the mid-1950s, and the Seal popped up under Gov. George Romney and Gov. William Milliken, too.

As a matter of fact, if you looked hard enough, you could probably find something of the sort back in the days of William Comstock or Chase Osborn or other earlier Michigan governors.

It's a good idea, and Gov. Blanchard should go full steam ahead on it.

IN SOME OTHER Blanchard programs, however, a bit more caution is in order.

The governor told the MPA of plans to revamp Michigan's prison system, including his hopes to handpick the top 10 or so prison administrators.

Obviously something must be done to correct Michigan's corrections program. Something's not working right. The headlines of the day prove that.

Direct responsibility of prison administrators to the elected governor might help; certainly it's an idea which should be explored.

The way it works now doesn't give the governor direct control. The prisons director is selected by the corrections commission, which is appointed by the governor.

Most top prison administrators come from the ranks, through the state's civil service system. Is something missing here? Maybe so.

THE GOVERNOR also wants to "modernize" Michigan's civil service system. Again, caution is advised.

Civil service is designed to recruit, test, classify, train, appoint, promote and protect employees without regard for political ties, but based on merit. All in all, it's worked pretty well in Michigan, and in most other public jurisdictions where the civil service system is a genuine merit system, unencumbered with politics and favoritism.

It's natural for elected administrators to want to loosen the ties that civil service places on their discretion. Gov. Blanchard's desire to "pick the top 10 or so" prison administrators without regard for civil service standards, is an example of this desire. He is not the first governor to want to change civil service.

Maybe there should be some loosening of the restrictions on appointments to top state jobs; maybe not.

IT'S BEEN 50 years or so since the spoils system ran rampant throughout Michigan government; when one administration went out, so did state employees, to be replaced by friends and relatives of the winning political party. The system worked in reverse when the political tables were turned, too.

Civil service has corrected much of that sorry system; good government demands that the spoils system not be permitted to return.

That's why any "modernization" of civil service in Michigan government should proceed with extreme caution. Reformers should be certain that the cure is not worse than the ailment.

Letters to the Editor

All or Nothing Camp Grayling Opinion Viewed as Extreme

Response to: Stephen B. Cohen.

I would like to respond to some of the statements made in your letter to the editor dated Feb. 18, 1988.

1) The title (which quite obviously comes from within your letter) "Personal Enjoyment of Property or Total Surrender to Guard" seems a little extreme to me. I don't see this argument over the expansion of Camp Grayling as falling under the "all or nothing" principle; but rather, I believe that compromises are not only possible, but necessary. You referred to the guard as being "not interested in cooperation," but I do not see the opposition, or yourself as being particularly cooperative either.

It does not seem to me that the opposition has offered any compromises as I would expect; instead I read statements implying that everything going on at Camp Grayling is "wasteful" and should be discontinued, this seems just as extreme and incooperative as the guard which you describe as being "interested in taking charge, taking over, and taking our land."

I submit that very few arguments have been satisfactorily settled when one or both sides have failed to recognize the possibility that both sides may reach their desired ends through compromise. I suggest that you, and all others interested in this argument, focus your thoughts more along the lines of how to successfully enjoy your property and allow the guard to satisfactorily carry out their maneuvers; and, please, give up the notion that only one or the other is possible!

2) Your letter states, "today the National Guard, while a backup for the army in times of emergency, is needed more for domestic disturbances than for international disputes." Isn't it obvious that we must have militaries in times of peace if only for the sole purpose of being prepared for war, should it arise? When considering the guard as secondary to the army, I don't believe that the fact that they are a backup makes them any less necessary.

I doubt anyone would want to enter any competition with only a "first string". I don't know of any coach who would want to enter a basketball game with only five players, or a football game with only eleven. I believe this same idea holds true with war — especially when one considers how quickly massive numbers of soldiers could be destroyed with modern weapons and, thus, how quickly it would be necessary to bring in the "second string" — National Guard.

3) You, Mr. Cohen, mentioned, in your letter, that you would rather see your tax money spent on an "Olympic Training Center" rather than on the National Guard and that you would like to work toward eliminating war by stopping the expansion of the National Guard. I fail to see how not preparing ourselves for war is going to eliminate war. I also fail to believe that spending money on sports and ignoring the reality of war is going to make it "disappear."

Notes from the Woods

By Nancy Lemmen

Murphy's been with us just over a year now. The acquisition of a third dog was unplanned, without question unwanted. But things like that happen. Take my own family, for example...

My parents are living a classic mid-50's life-style: father works outside the home, mother is a homemaker, one daughter (me), new baby (my brother, Mark). Perfect, symmetrical, one child for each parent to attend to at a time.

Then, whoops. Fourteen months later Michael is born. Upsets the symmetry, the balance, the perfection of our family. A few years later Mother makes the mistake of confiding to me that Mike's birth was unplanned. Ha! I suspected as much. So I take it upon myself to inform the little interloper of his true status in the family. Ah, yes, the wonderful honesty of children.

"Mike," I whisper sweetly and confidentially. Did you know that you were unplanned?? Yes, true. Mom and Dad didn't really want you. They were only planning to have two children. Mark and me. Just thought you might be wondering." I use similar lines whenever sibling warfare demands them.

Well, hey, what's a kid to do? All's fair in love and war and sibling rivalry, isn't it? That boy had to be stopped. Just because he possessed two dimples (I had none!), the most beautiful of toddler faces (I felt average), and the beloved "baby of the family" position (as oldest I had to be responsible), ad nauseam. You get the picture.

At any rate, this memory poked its nasty little head (I have some pride) into my consciousness the other day as we prepared to recognize Murphy's first anniversary with the family. We can't celebrate his birthday because we don't know when it is.

Murphy, it seems, was extra baggage, one thing left behind when a couple split up and went their separate ways. Unwanted. After they left him last February, he survived by pilfering food from the neighbor dogs' bowls and sleeping under the abandoned mobile home. Then Dave found him and brought him home to us.

I regarded the addition to our family as an act of kindness, a social obligation, sort of like putting up with a second brother. When asked, I replied that while two dogs are company, three's a herd. I advised friends against adding a third.

Then, without my awareness, gradually through the months, Murphy wormed his 23-pound, wiggly, black, happy body into my heart. I know nothing of his ancestry — no doubt the product of generations of indiscriminate cross breeding. I know nothing of his owners except that they deserted him for reasons of their own. I know only that I love him and he's a part of our family.

As I drove home the other evening, this thought suddenly hit me: "I don't even want our family to be without Murphy. How ridiculous that I once thought three dogs were too many."

Just as ridiculous as thinking that my parents weren't thrilled to have three children.

I must remember that there are no bounds to our capacity to give love. It can stretch as far as we allow it. Today I praise the accident that made ours a three-child family. I thank the turn of events that brought Murphy into our lives. I resolve to open myself to those disruptions in plans that make beautiful changes in my life.

Love you, Mike. Happy anniversary, Murphy.

Pass Reasonable Millage; And Write to Legislators

Let's talk millage. I belong to the age group that votes against millage. I'm retired, receive a pension, have no children or grandchildren in the school system here. I also wish that the pension was larger; taxes, hospital care, groceries and living expenses were lower.

I do not think that Mr. Reynolds and the school board have always been correct in what they have asked for. Then I look at the new middle school as modern as tomorrow with a look and link to the past and I am proud that it was done that way. I look at the school yard and I wonder which of these children will be the community leaders twenty or thirty years from now.

Working with the Commission on Aging for two years and the Lions Club sight program, I know very well many of us seniors hurt financially. I think we must look closely at how our money is spent and who is spending it. I don't think that the school board or any ruling body should ever get all they ask for; but those children on the playground, whether they were sired by us or our children are our community, state or nation's future.

A millage continuation, a reasonable millage increase to improve or handle inflation which I believe the April 13th millage represents are good. Let's pass them...then write a letter to State Representative asking why not more monies for school systems without large tax bases. The State owns a big chunk of our County. How about the state picking up a larger chunk of the bill to educate our children? Let them know that we agree when they tell us "We live in a beautiful part of the country" but what makes it beautiful is the lack of people and heavy industry which leads to a lack of tax base to educate our children to compete in this world.

In short, let's vote to do our share and insist our representatives in Lansing try to do more.

Where Would We Be Without Freedom?

Dear Mr. Thompson: Because of superior wisdom, and the blood, sweat, and tears of our citizens who have fought for our American rights, we enjoy the freedom of speech and press. Without the training and maintaining of our military strength to continue defending these rights, where will we be? To whom will we look in placing blame once we have squandered our hard won freedom? Having tried to remain silent regard these disputes I feel I have now addressed my concern and stated my position. Hopefully, I will spend the remainder of my life associating with military personnel, and enjoying the freedom WE ALL presently have.

Sincerely,
Peter W. Stephan

Letters to the Editor

Your views are welcome on this page. Letters may be typed or handwritten but please double space or use every other line.

Letters should be limited to 500 words. The Avalanche reserves the right to edit all letters.

The weekly business stories began about a month ago in the Avalanche. The Church stories started last December. In each case along the way we "hit a snag."

The major problem in writing those stories is that in most cases the history is not written and more than one person must be contacted to get a complete picture. It is easy when there is one owner to a business or one person who can search back in his or her memory to provide details from the beginning.

The same is true of the Church histories because the first few had rather complete records of the developments. There may indeed be others who have the historical packages such as a scrapbook but we are at loss to find them.

Unfortunately, unlike large city newspapers, there are not enough people at the Avalanche so that one individual can take the time necessary to contact the many persons or pour over the many documents that may be essential to a story. Typical of the suggestions we have received about doing a story on a particular church or business is the one where an individual starts off by suggesting that we conduct about six different people. Those people we are told will all be able to contribute part of the story because they each owned the business at a different time or were church elders at a different period.

As we said, there is simply not enough time during the week to try to reach all of the people, make an appointment with them and then meet to get the facts. This same type of situation faces us when another possible historical situation could be of interest to readers. As an example, an individual recently suggested to us that there are a lot of old timers around who would have some fine hunting and fishing tales. The question is what is the best method of getting those stories into print?

Our suggestion to that person and to others who believe that a certain story would have merit is to act as the middleman (middlewoman) in assembling the necessary persons or materials. For example business X has a recent owner but a previous or original owner is wintering in Florida. The present owner suggested we wait until that old timer returns from the south and then we can all get together and do the story.

In a much similar situation a particular Church might have a number of long time members scattered around the community. One individual might call to "bounce off" the idea of a story on us. Once we agree that it could make a good story, that person could serve as the vehicle to get the others together and a brainstorming session could be tape recorded. That in turn could be made into the story.

We love to do the historical stories and will cooperate in anyway possible. As we said there simply is not enough time to make all of the telephone calls and individual meetings that it takes for many stories. If readers can help, we can cover lots of historical issues.

Bring Guard Activity Back To Reasonableness

(Published here are parts of a letter sent to Representative Ralph Ostling. Portions of the letter were left out to comply with 500-word limit on letters to the Editor).

Dear Mr. Ostling:
You are correct in your appraisal of the grave discomfort the increased presence of the National Guard causes me and my neighbors. Yes, we are disappointed over the outcome of meetings with the National Guard thus far.
Mr. Ostling, it is imperative that you, and especially my fellow citizens of Crawford County, understand completely that neither I nor those many people I have talked with, have ever expressed in any way that the National Guard be eliminated from Grayling, Crawford County, or the State of Michigan. We do contend however, that the present level of activity and obvious future plans of expansion are not that the present level of activity and obvious future plans of expansion are not compatible with the civilian population. This is not to say that a lesser presence and lesser activity level would not be more than acceptable.
We are certain, contrary to present propaganda, that many other locations throughout the United States would and could serve the needs of much of the activity presently being concentrated in the small area of Crawford County and our neighboring counties of Kalkaska and Otsego. I must repeat, eliminating the National Guard from the Crawford County area is neither my intent nor that of those I have spoken with. The intent is a balance of activity and land mass owned by the government and the private sector.

Promoting the National Guard and their families as tourists doesn't seem to fit, at least on the part of the National Guardsperson who is here to train, not vacation. Thank goodness the present command realizes why the troops are here and does keep them training. There are two good reasons for that; (1) preparedness, and (2) that's what our tax dollars are paying for. You are correct when you say job availability increases with the growth of tourism. To refer to the National Guard as our tourists or a tourist attraction is at the very least, laughable.

You and others have a penchant for referring to the National Guard's economic impact on the area. One must wonder though, for if it is true that for all gains there is an expense, what does the National Guard presence, at current level of air-ground activity, cost the citizens of Crawford County? Forest fires, police protection, lodging, meals and transportation to bring people back from other states to appear in court actions, tourist driving through Grayling and staying elsewhere, summer home owners disenchanted and selling their properties at lower and lower values, to name a few of those expenses.

On this last point, has anyone thought about how little we give back to the summer home taxpayer? They do not send their children to school here, yet they pay the same school taxes as those who do. They receive virtually no municipal or county services. We really do get a free ride on their tax dollars. All they ask in return is to be left alone and to not destroy the environment they love as much as we do. Something to think about.

In closing, let me reiterate that neither I nor anyone with whom I am acquainted want anyone to lose their job at Camp Grayling, nor should a business in Crawford County fail due to a curtailment of the National Guard. The elimination of Camp Grayling is not an issue. Bringing the level of activity back to reasonableness is.

A Bit of Grayling History

By Elmer Ferron

The Historical Museum idea was begun about 1970 by a group of interested citizens. It was a good start in the old one room school house. It continued there for about fifteen years under my supervision. Some ideas developed later about renovating the old depot for housing the museum.

About this time the Rotary Club took on the project of repairing the depot. With the help of several groups the big project soon changed the scenery of the area. It is a sad state of affairs when some communities elect to tear down and destroy parts of our heritage.

Looking back into the early history of our present museum building, we might assume it was built about 1882.

I will try to recall some of the early people who worked at the depot. I had the job of delivering Western Union Telegrams during 1916 and 1917.

I can well remember the following telegraph operators and train dispatchers — Bill Miller, Walter Neadeau, Frank Anstett and Grant Shaw. There were relief operators who filled in for short stays. Several other people worked at times selling train tickets — namely Leo Seymour, Colleta Smith and Bun Teatu. John Matheson was the man who took care of the baggage room. This man also played the base drum in the city band that was directed by Ed Clark.

The baggage room was located in the east end of the present museum.

A Mr. Fink operated the restaurant in the west end of the old depot. I think this part was later torn down.

The small upstairs rooms were sleeping quarters for the railroad men who had to lay over between runs.

There was a railway express building about where the Hall of Fame building is now located.

I might digress a bit and move west. The freight buildings and loading platforms were located just east of the Icehouse Quilt building location. A man by the name of Chris Jensen worked there for many years.

This area of the community was one busy place along with the round house for engine repairs and the coal dock and sand house.

At this time I would like to say thank you to all the people who helped to renovate and fix up the exterior and interior of the depot building. Another thanks must go to the people behind the Canoe Hall of Fame project.

It makes me proud to know that Grayling has such a unique historical museum in our community.

Bob Ruddy, you must be proud of your accomplishments. You deserve a lot of credit for the things you have done to help preserve our heritage. Thank you.

Is there someone who likes to call people on the phone, who likes to type and who likes to report what is going on in Grayling? See Jon Thompson at the Avalanche if you are interested in my job — I will be giving it up soon.

Newcomers to Grayling are Duane and Nancy Kellogg and their daughter, Melissa, who is a junior at Grayling High School. They live at McIntyre's Landing at a family home. Nancy is the daughter of the late Leona Deckrow Goward, granddaughter of John Deckrow, who was well-known for his ice throne sculptures, great-granddaughter of Frank and Nancy Adaline Oaks Deckrow, and great-great-granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. D.P. Oaks who homesteaded near Higgins Lake in Center Township. Welcome to your ancestor's home town!

Jim Shepler of Grayling and his son, Brad Shepler of Traverse City, recently attended a retail jewelers association meetings in Des Moines, Iowa. Jim will also be attending jewelry seminars in Las Vegas in which fifteen jewelers from around the country have been asked to participate.

Mrs. Doris Souders arrived home last week after spending five weeks with her son, Richard Souders, and his family in Seabrook, Texas. She traveled there by Amtrak and enjoyed the trip. Jim and Joyce Kolka took her to Ann Arbor to catch the train.

Mike and Sharon Hoffman

and daughter, Shannon, have returned from Kentucky where they spent a couple of months visiting her mother. Mike will return to the Grayling Country Club as manager again this year.

Roy and Joyce Vogelsberg spent two weeks in Panama City, Florida. They visited friends, Ralph and Marge Wickler and also did quite a lot of golfing.

Pet Animals Require Shelter from Wind

By Nancy Lemmen
Community members and students from Grayling High School raised funds to make a second donation to the Crawford County Animal Shelter. People donated their Glen's Market cash register receipts, which were totaled by students from the GHS Spanish Department, and a $70 contribution was sent this month.

Crawford County Sheriff Deputy Marge Mathew, who manages the animal shelter, reminds county residents that by law, animals must have access to shelter. "It's the wind that kills them," says Mathew. "They need a doghouse with a flap to keep the wind out."

Mathew also advises owners against keeping their pets in the house all night, then outside all day, because then their bodies don't know if they should build a heavy coat or shed hair.

Final tips from Mathew are to provide pets with a couple of extra ounces of food throughout the winter (to help build fat which keeps their bodies warm) and to give them water at least twice a day. Eating snow is not adequate and will eventually cause kidney and bladder problems.

Dr. Paul Mesack, veterinarian in the Grayling Hospital for Animals, advises pet owners to observe their animals to determine their temperature needs. Some dogs, for example, don't like being kept inside; but others - often older dogs - become sick because their bodies can't handle the cold. Changes in behavior, lethargy, disinterest in eating all suggest that a pet is adversely affected by the cold weather.

Mesack echoes Mathew's warning that animals' environments should not be changed suddenly and that they need houses to protect them from the elements.

Registration Begins For Co-Op Nursery

Registration for Grayling Cooperative Nursery school is now open to the public for 3 and 4 year olds for the 1988-89 school year, reports Eileen Papendick, membership chairman. Registration fees are $10 non-refundable. This fee maintains the school during the summer months when tuition is not coming in and pays utilities, taxes and maintains the grounds and building.

Coop parents and kindergarten teachers met recently to discuss kindergarten registration and testing of the children for the next school year. The nursery school has over 30 students enrolled that will be registering for kindergarten this next school year. Mrs. Judy Lochner, this year's nursery school teacher, has done an excellent job in making this preschool year both fun and stimulating for the nursery children, reports board president Margaret Knapp. "We have had a great year as a whole and fundraising was a big success with the community support and parent participation. The school has a "new look" this year, brighter and more modern additions have been made," says Knapp.

The school hours are 9:00 to 2:45 Monday through Friday and anyone interested in seeing the school before registration may stop in and see a class in action. A brief visit by a parent interested in joining the parent cooperative nursery and enrolling their preschooler are welcome. The school is located at 306 Plum Street.

A springtime open house is also being planned. Registration may be done then, or call Eileen Papendick at 348-8851.

GHS Wrestlers Stopped In Regionals and State

A great season in which Grayling won 5 tournaments, went undefeated in dual matches, and won the conference in record style, ended last week a little too soon.

The matmen were edged in the class B Regional team competition 27-22 by Gladstone, a team they had finished ahead of in one tournament.

"We had 5 matches with them that could have went either way," said Grayling coach Don Ferguson. "We only needed to win one to win the match. Usually out of five close matches you think you might win one."

The Vikings came close, losing two matches in the last ten seconds.

"But we don't have any excuses or alibis," said Ferguson. "They out wrestled us and won."

Winning matches for Grayling were Andy Moore, 98, Terry Sorenson 112, Bucky Monforton 132, Tim Cook 138, Tim Colling 145, and Jeff Wolcott, 185, tied.

Grayling also got stopped in the individual competition at the state level. Seniors Ward Jones and Mark Lowe and junior Brian Kernstock advanced to the class B finals at Battle Creek held last Friday and Saturday.

Jones, 155, won 2 matches and lost 2. Kernstock, 198, won once and lost two and Lowe lost two at the state finals. Although the trio got shut out of medals for the first time at a tournament this year, they were among the top 16 wrestlers in class B in their weight class by qualifying for state.

It was the first time Grayling competed in class B for many years.

HALL OF FAMER — Fred Wolcott, who will be inducted into the WSU Hall of Fame, is congratulated by members of the Boston Red Sox minor league team including Carlton Fisk, in catcher's gear, and Bill "Space-man" Lee, next to Fisk. Wolcott had just hit a home run.

Wolcott To Be Inducted In WSU Hall of Fame

Frederick L. Wolcott, of Grayling, is a member of the Class of 1988 inductees in Wayne State University's Athletic Hall of Fame. The Thirteenth Annual Induction Ceremony will be held on Saturday, March 5, 1988, at the McGregor Memorial Conference Center on the Detroit Campus.

Joining Wolcott in the Class of 1988 are Dr. Lowell E. Blanchard (Hudson, MI), Wayne D. Brenkert (deceased), Mary E. Carney

(Birmingham, MI), Astrid Johannesen (Royal Oak, MI) and Laurence E. Russell (Rancho Santa Fe, CA). All six inductees were former WSU student-athletes who lettered in at least two years in one sport, or once in two sports.

Wolcott was a two-sport star for Wayne State, lettering in baseball and basketball in 1962, 1963, 1964 and 1965, earning six varsity letters and two freshman numerals.

On the baseball diamond, Wolcott was a standout as a catcher, outfielder and pitcher, but spent most of his latter years behind the plate, earning All-Presidents' Athletic Conference First Team honors in 1964 and 1965. Wolcott captained his junior and senior teams, and was named the Tartars' Most Valuable Player in 1965.

Wolcott set single season and career records for stolen bases, and one still stands today. In 1964 Wolcott stole a record 21 bases, and was perfect on 21 attempts; that stolen base completion percentage of 1.000 is still the record. Wolcott's 37 career stolen bases were also a record.

He compiled a .358 batting average during his career, still good for ninth on the career list, and led WSU in batting his junior season with a .400 average, becoming only the fifth regular player at that time to bat for .400 or above in a season. In his first year of varsity competition, Wolcott also set a single season record with four home runs.

In his senior year Wolcott finished second in PAC batting with a .411 average, as the Tartars finished second in the conference with a 4-2 mark.

As a guard in men's basketball, Wolcott earned All-PAC First Team honors in 1964 and 1965, and was the team's Fred Fisher MVP both years as well, becoming only the third player at that time to achieve that distinction. Wolcott also co-captained his junior and senior teams.

Wolcott's best season in basketball would be his senior year, when he led the Tartars to the 1965 PAC title with a 9-3 conference mark. The Tartars finished 11-7 overall, capping off a two-year rebuilding program under Hall of Fame coach Joel G. Mason.

Wolcott, a native of Lincoln Park, went on to sign with the Boston Red Sox in 1966. He also played with the Detroit Tiger organization and was named Most Valuable Player four different seasons with minor league clubs.

Wolcott has coached the Grayling High School baseball team for the last 3 years and also has coached the GHS varsity basketball team.

Viking Volleyball Team Begins Districts Saturday

Grayling will meet Lake City Thursday, March 3, in the last home match of the year.

On Saturday, Grayling goes to Kalkaska for the District Tournament. The Vikings will face the winner of Gaylord-Cheboygan. If Grayling wins, they advance to play the winner of Kalkaska-Petoskey.

The Vikings, district champions last year in class C, are playing in class B this year.

Grayling traveled to Lake City last week and won 15-9 10-15 15-8 15-9. Coach Becky Brown said everyone on the team played and contributed to the win.

Carrie Trudgeon and Patty Tremblay led in serving, both hitting 18 of 18 in. Trudgeon also had 30 sets and Sheryl Klinger had 18. Sue Casler led with 12 spikes and Tremblay had 11. Heather Derenzky 7, and Missey Welch 5. Deanna Phelps led with 7 blocks and added 14 tips. Trudgeon had 18 tips.

In a tournament Saturday, at Kalkaska, Grayling finished first in pool play beating Elk Rapids 15-13 15-7, Clare 15-9 15-6, and splitting with Kalkaska 15-3 14-16.

In the semi-finals, Leeland beat Grayling 7-15 11-15. The Vikings lost in the consolation finals 15-10 9-15 3-15 to Kalkaska to finish in 4th.

Sue Casler had 44 serves, 48 spikes, 89 passes, 17 tips, and 21 sets. Jenny Money had 46 serves, 14 sets, 43 spikes, 99 passes, and 14 tips. Carrie Trudgeon had 34 serves, 65 sets, and 87 passes. She also had an outstanding game with her tips, faking opponents and keeping them guessing whether a set on soft attack was coming.

Sheryl Klinger had 57 sets, 26 serves, 61 passes, and 11 tips. Heather Derenzky had 24 serves, 20 spikes, 18 blocks, and 83 passes. Deanna Phelps had 33 spikes, 33 blocks, 88 passes, 19 sets, and 15 serves.

Vikings Lose Thriller In Double Overtime

Grayling couldn't put down the final bucket in regulation time or in the first overtime and wound up losing 80-76 to Gaylord in double overtime here last Friday.

The Vikings came back from a 10-point halftime deficit to catch Gaylord in the fourth quarter. The Vikings had the game tied with the ball with 28 seconds to go in regulation.

Grayling worked the clock down but missed the last shot.

The Vikings also had the ball in overtime with the score tied and worked the clock down in the final seconds. This time, Grayling didn't get a shot off and turned the ball over.

In the 2nd OT, Grayling rushed to a five-point lead but couldn't hang on. Gaylord made two free throws with 20 seconds left for a four-point lead. Grayling tried a couple of three-point shots that didn't fall.

The Vikings pushed Gaylord to double-overtime despite having four players foul out. Grayling also was hurt on the free-throw line shooting only 9 of 21 in a tight game.

Hull led Grayling with 23 points including 5 of 8 three-point shooting. Jeff Palmer scored 20, John Kinnee 16, Todd McLane 7, Bud Ostrowski 5, Marty Jung 3, and Chris Skidmore 2.

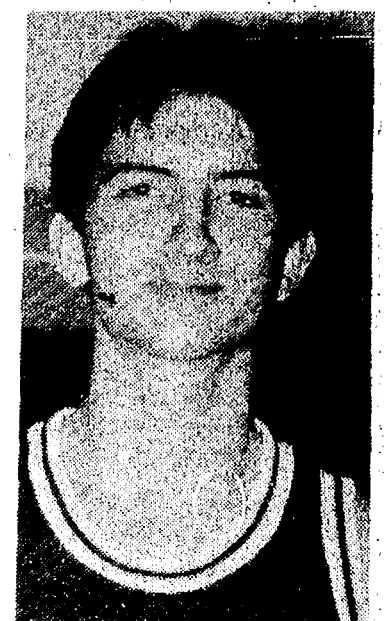

Grayling was the winning side of another close game Monday night, Feb. 29, against West Branch. The Vikings won 60-59 with Kinnee's free throw with 9 seconds left the winning margin.

A last second shot was missed by West Branch, after the referee had ordered two seconds put back on the clock.

Viking coach Tom Mills said his bench did a nice job in contributing toward the win. He also said Todd McLane had an all-around good game.

Kinnee led with 21 points and 14 rebounds. McLane had 12, Palmer 8, Ostrowski 7, Skidmore 2, and Mead 2.

The Vikings were 8-10 heading into a Tuesday night game against Houghton Lake. Grayling meets Cheboygan here Friday for Parents' Night.

Here's proof that even if you strike out a lot you can still be successful...Some of the greatest players in baseball history struck out more than ONE-THOUSAND times each in their careers — including Babe Ruth, Mickey Mantle, Hank Aaron, Willie Mays, Mike Schmidt, Willie Stargell and Pete Rose.

According to official golf records, a 6-year-old boy once made a hole-in-one on a regulation course and became the youngest person ever to make a hole-in-one...It was made by 6-year-old Tommy Moore on the 145-yard 4th hole at Woodbriar Golf Course in Martinsburg, W. Va., on March 8, 1968...And to make his record even more amazing, Tommy also made another hole-in-one before he turned 7.

One of the most unusual records in big league baseball history happened not once, but twice in the 1987 season when Rick Cerone of the New York Yankees was both a catcher AND a pitcher in the same game...On both July 19 and Aug. 9, Cerone caught the first 7 innings of a Yankee game, then pitched the 8th inning...And, he gave up no hits and no runs in either pitching performance.

When you go out to buy firewood, make sure you understand the vocabulary.

"Many people are buying wood for the first time," says Mel Koelling, Extension forestry specialist. "Even if they've bought wood before, they may not be clear on the terms used." Useful terms to know are "cord," "Face cord," "density," "green wood" and "air dry," Koelling says.

A cord of firewood is a stack 4 feet by 4 feet by 8 feet. That's 128 cubic feet of wood and air space.

In some locations, the term "face cord" is used. This is a stack of wood 12, 16, or 24 inches wide piled 4 feet high and 8 feet long. A face cord is between one-fourth and one-half a standard cord.

Firewood is also sold by the pickup load, Koelling adds. The volume included in a pickup load depends on the dimensions of the bed and how the wood is stacked. A typical pickup load may range from one-third to two-thirds of a standard cord.

"Density" refers to the weight of the wood per unit volume. High density Michigan hardwoods include ironwood, black locust, hickory, oak, hard maple and ash. Woods with lower density include silver maple, box elder, cottonwood and basswood. The denser the wood, the higher the heat value.

Air-dried wood is freshly cut wood that has been allowed to dry outside, usually for six to 12 months. Air-dried firewood will provide one-fourth to one-third more heat per unit volume than green wood.

To adequately air dry, cut and split wood should be stacked for a year, Koelling says. A cubic foot of freshly cut white oak that weighs about 62 pounds will weigh approximately 48 pounds when air-dried.

"Don't buy freshly cut (green) wood," Koelling advises. "Green wood is difficult to burn, provides less energy and may promote creosote formation in your chimney."

Koelling says a standard cord of firewood may range from $40.00 to more than $70.00 in various parts of the state. But price shouldn't be the only determinant when you buy wood. The heat value can vary widely from cord to cord, depending on the density and dryness of the wood.

"A load of dry, dense hickory can give twice the fuel value of a load of dry, lower density basswood," he says.

In Michigan during 1983-84, more than 3.2 million standard cords of wood were used for fuel, Koelling says.

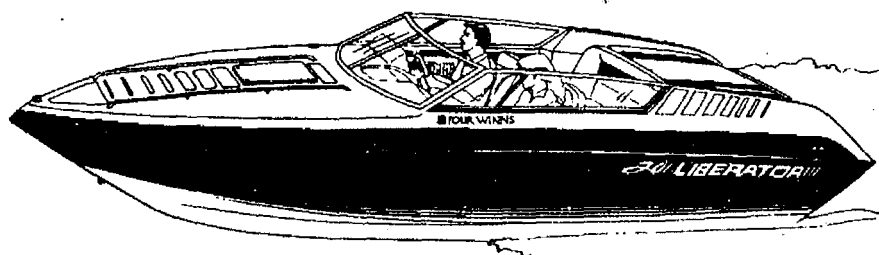

"Michigan's forest resource is large," he adds.

"We grow about two times the amount of wood we use each year, so we are not about to 'run out' of wood because of increased use for fuel."

As a matter of fact, using low quality (crooked or otherwise defective) wood for fuel is considered good forestry, he says, and can offer substantial economic benefits to both producers and users.

Taxing Your Child's Income

Some major changes in the 1986 tax laws affect who must file a return and how to figure tax on that return. These changes will require many children who have never filed tax returns to file them and pay tax. Parents who have children with earned or unearned income may be confused about the new procedures.

A dependent child must file a return if he/she has:

- earned income (wages, tips, professional fees and other amounts received as pay for work actually done) totalling more than $2,540.
- unearned income (interest, dividends, capital gains income from a trust, etc.) totalling more than $500.
- a combination of earned and unearned income totalling more than $500.

The dependent child's standard deduction will be either $500 or the total of his/her earned income up to the standard deduction, whichever is greater.

No personal exemption is allowed on the child's return if the child can be claimed on the parent's return.

The investment income of a child under age 14 may be taxed at the parent's top rate.

Example: Kim is single and age 18. Her parents can claim an exemption for her on their 1987 tax return. During 1987, Kim received $800 of interest and dividend income. She did not work during 1987. Kim must file a 1987 tax return because her unearned income of $800 is more than $500.

Example: Joe, single and age 20, is a full-time college student. His parents provide most of his support and claim an exemption for him on their tax return. During 1987, Joe received $400 of interest income and earned $2,500 from a part-time job. Joe must file a 1987 tax return because his gross income of $2,900 consists of both earned and unearned income and is more than $500.

The Amazing Heart

The heart is a muscle. It pumps blood. It pumps blood to all parts of your body. The heart is a machine. It takes the blood one minute to go around your body. Your blood carries oxygen throughout your body. The red ones are the arteries and the blue ones are the veins. Our heart is very good because it keeps us alive. The heart is very important. It always beats even when you are asleep. The heart even rests after every beat. Your heart is as big as your fist. The heart is wonderful!! Dictated by the First Grade, Miss Williams.

I like my teacher. She's pretty and she's nice. She gives us a lot of treats. They are for being good. You have to get all A's I think, to get a treat for all of the things.

I like spelling. It's fun because it is very easy. Usually we add words to other words that are written so it says another big word. I like our spelling words that we have to do. She tells us a word and we have to write in on our paper. Dictated by Amanda Smock, Mrs. Yost's first grade.

Water Cycles and Weathering

We like science. We like science because we can do projects. We've been learning about how rocks break when water gets into the cracks and freezes. We've been learning about how things freeze and get bigger.

When plant roots grow into cracks of rocks another kind of weathering takes place. We have been learning about carbon dioxide and freezing rain water. When a lot of water pushes on rocks the rocks get smooth.

We have been learning about water cycles. And how the sun evaporates water. Water soaks into the ground to make lakes, rivers, and ponds. By Jason Steele and Corrine Lanning, Mrs. McEvers' third grade.

“Once I decided on the boat,
I could have gotten the loan anywhere.”

“Then I made the right move and chose NBD.”

“All I knew was this summer, I'd be out on my new boat every chance I could. Out on the water—under the sun. That's what was important.

“So when the dealer started talking boat loans, I figured a boat loan was—a boat loan. Right?”

“Then a client suggested I give NBD a try. It was definitely one of my better moves.

“When I talked with them, I found out I had plenty of financing options. I chose a 180-month variable-rate loan. The kind where even if the rates change, my payments don't.

“Once I made that choice, the rest was simple. I got my boat—and the sun and the water—and I got a great feeling about NBD. I'm doing all my banking there, now. Once you've made the move, why rock the boat?”

Today, you have more choices than ever. At NBD, it's to be better to earn your boat. Make the right move, and make your first choice for a boat all your financial needs.

Here's Ten Techniques For Managing Your Stress

By Shelly Maiorana, MPH
Stress is a part of life. We must learn how to handle stress with more peace, humor and skill. It's what we are all up to ... becoming more and more masterful in life.

Let's look at 10 Techniques for Managing Stress. Use one or two or ten — whatever it takes — everyday.

1. Don't do too much. If you are over-extended, cut back. Learn to say no to shoulds, oughts and requests.

2. Do one thing at a time. Sound simple? Try it.

3. If you are unable to relax your mind, work through the body. Relax your body with heat or exercise. Good examples are daily walking or jogging, cycling, swimming, jazzercise, saunas, hot baths or hot chocolate.

4. Acknowledge yourself. Praise yourself daily for the difference you make. Dwell on the things you did well each day.

5. Forgive yourself and others. Being wise means to develop an understanding of the limitations of our humanness. Be kind and have compassion, especially for yourself.

6. Use relaxation tapes to relax. Good examples are meditation tapes, guided imagery or soft music. Keep a tape recorder on hand.

7. Watch out for and get help for addictive behavior that produces stress. If you eat too much or drink to feel better emotionally, or smoke at all, those behaviors in themselves can make you feel worse. Find a class or a support group that will guide you in changing your behavior.

8. Schedule quiet times in your day. All of us need time to be alone and to collect our energy. It's OK to be creative as to how you fit this in. Be outdoors in nature whenever possible.

9. Assess your own life situation and needs. Give yourself the extra time, patience and understanding you would give a friend. For example, if this is a difficult time for you, slow down on what you expect of yourself. Buy yourself a gift of fresh flowers. The key is to be gentle with yourself. You don't have to be strong all the time.

In accordance with Act No. 453, Public Acts of 1976, the contractor hereby agrees not to discriminate against an employee or applicant for employment with respect to hire, tenure, terms, conditions or privileges of employment, or a matter directly or indirectly related to employment, because of race, color, religion, national origin, age, sex, height, weight, or marital status. Further, in accordance with Act No. 220, Public Acts of 1976, as amended by Act No. 478, Public Acts of 1980 the contractor hereby agrees not to discriminate against an employee or applicant for employment with respect to hire, tenure, terms, conditions, or privileges of employment, or a matter directly or indirectly related to employment, because of a handicap that is unrelated to the individual's ability to perform the duties of a particular job or position. A breach of the above covenants shall be regarded as a material breach of this contract.

The contractor hereby agrees that any and all subcontracts to this contract, whereby a portion of the work set forth in this contract is to be performed, shall contain a covenant the same as hereinbefore set forth in Section 1 of this Appendix.

The Contractor will take affirmative action to insure that applicants for employment and employees are treated without regard to their race, color, religion, national origin, age, sex, height, weight, marital status or a handicap that is unrelated to the individual's ability to perform the duties of a particular job or position. Such action shall include, but not be limited to, the following: employment, upgrading, demotion or transfer, recruitment advertising; layoff or termination; rates of pay or other forms of compensation; and selection for training, including apprenticeship.

The contractor will, in all solicitations or advertisements for employees placed by or on behalf of the contractor, state that all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, national origin, age, sex, height, weight, marital status or handicap that is unrelated to the individuals ability to perform the duties of a particular job or position.

The contractor or his collective bargaining representative will send to each labor union or representative of workers with which he has a collective bargaining agreement or other contract or understanding, a notice advising the said labor union or workers' representative of the contractor's commitments under this appendix.

The contractor will comply with all relevant published rules, regulations, directives, and orders of the Michigan Civil Rights Commission which may be in effect prior to the taking of bids for any individual state project.

The contractor will furnish and file compliance reports within such time and upon such forms as provided by the Michigan Civil Rights Commission, said forms may also elicit information as to the practices, policies, program and employment statistics of each subcontractor as well as the contractor himself, and said contractor will permit access to his books, records, and accounts by the Michigan Civil Rights Commission, and/or its agent, for purposes of investigation to ascertain compliance with this contract and relevant with rules, regulations, and orders of the Michigan Civil Rights Commission.

In that event that the Civil Rights Commission finds, after a hearing held pursuant to its rules, that a contractor has not complied with the contractual obligations under this agreement, the Civil Rights Commission may, as part of its order based upon such findings, certify said findings to the Administrative Board of the State of Michigan, which Administrative Board may order the cancellation of the contract found to have been violated, and/or declare the contractor ineligible for future contracts with the state and its political and civil subdivisions, departments, and officers, and including the governing boards of institutions of higher education, until the contractor complies with said order of the Civil Rights Commission. Notice of said declaration of future ineligibility may be given to any or all of the persons with whom the contractor is declared ineligible to contract as a contracting party in future contracts. In any case before the Civil Rights Commission in which cancellation of an existing contract is a possibility, the contracting agency shall be notified of such possible remedy and shall be given the option by the Civil Rights Commission to participate in such proceedings.

The contractor will include, or incorporate by reference, the provisions of the foregoing paragraphs (1) through (8) in every subcontract or purchase order unless exempted by the rules, regulations or orders of the Michigan Civil Rights Commission, and will provide in every subcontract or purchase order that said provisions will be binding upon each subcontractor or seller.

The wage rate for each trade shall be in compliance with the U.S. Dept. of Labor, Federal Wage Rate Schedule currently in effect for Crawford County, Michigan.

DBE/WBE REQUIREMENTS

Disadvantaged Business Enterprises, Minority Business Enterprises, and Women Business Enterprises (DBE/MBE/WBE) Subcontracting Provision.

Fifteen percent of the total contract price, as awarded, shall be made available to certified DBE/MBE/WBE*. The required percentages are 10 percent DBE or 0 percent MBE and 5 percent WBE. These percentage requirements may be adjusted upon receipt of written notification from the Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT).

Compliance with the percentage requirements may be fulfilled by D/M/WBE's performing as subcontractors or suppliers.

*For the purpose of this provision, a D/M/WBE shall be defined in the "Disadvantaged Business Enterprise (DBE), Minority Business Enterprise (MBE), and Women Business Enterprise (WBE) Program Procedures" of MDOT.

MDOT may withhold a percentage of the total content award, said percentage shall be equal to the D/M/WBE percentage requirements for this agreement. This percentage may be withheld until such time that:

- (a) The contractor submits and MDOT approves the names of the D/M/WBE's and a description and dollar value of work to be performed by each;
- and
- (b) The contractor submits acceptable documentation to MDOT that the subcontract(s) and/or purchase(s) have been executed.

The total dollar value of a contract with a DBE or an MBE which is owned and controlled by minority or socially and economically disadvantaged women is counted toward either the DBE/MBE goal or the WBE goal, but not both. The contractor may choose the goal to which the contract value is applied.

To ensure that MDOT's D/M/WBE program benefits only firms owned and controlled by socially and economically disadvantaged individuals, minorities, and women, these firms must be certified by MDOT in accordance with 49 CFR Part 23 or by the State of Michigan's Department of Civil Rights.

MDOT shall be notified immediately of a D/M/WBE's inability to perform and the contractor's intent to obtain a substitute D/M/WBE that is unable to perform with another D/M/WBE. The substitute D/M/WBE must be approved by MDOT.

RIGHTS RESERVED BY OWNER

The Owner reserves the right to waive any irregularities, reject any or all proposals or accept any proposals that, in the opinion of the Owner, will serve their best interests.

WITHDRAWAL OF BIDS

No bid may be withdrawn for a period of thirty days after the opening of bids.

The Bible Speaks

From Calvary Baptist Church

The Gospel of John

In John 5:1-9 we observe the sovereignty of God in healing. Jesus went to a feast in Jerusalem, (Verse 1), and stopped by the pool of Bethesda, (Verse 2) to heal one man. There was a "great multitude of impotent folk, of blind, halt, withered, waiting for the moving of the water." (Verse 3). This great multitude of people without power, blind, unable to work, and just waiting, pictured the spiritual depravity of Israel at the time of Christ.

All these people gathered at the pool of Bethesda, which means "House of Mercy", because they knew only a miracle could deliver them. The impotent man had been in this helpless condition for 38 years. (Verse 5). When Jesus asked him, "...Wilt thou be made whole?" The impotent man admitted his own inability to receive healing. (Verse 7). The great multitude awaited one chance at a miracle. (Verse 4).

From this mass of human suffering, Jesus selected one man to heal. "Jesus saith unto him, Rise, take up thy bed, and walk." (Verse 8). Jesus could just as easily have spoken healing to the entire great multitude, but He didn't. God's command is God's enablement, "And immediately the man was made whole, and took up his bed, and walked: and on the same day was the sabbath." (Verse 9).

In chapter #3, Jesus healed a spiritual wreck named Nicodemus, a ruler of the Jews who was spiritually blind and unable to enter the Kingdom of God. In chapter #4, Jesus healed a moral wreck who had had five husbands and was currently living in adultery. In chapter #5, Jesus heals a physical wreck of 38 years. Every human being on earth is represented by these three persons today. All of us are spiritual wrecks until we are born-again through personal faith in our Lord Jesus Christ. All of us are moral wrecks, "For all have sinned and come short of the glory of God." (Rom. 3:23). All of us are physical wrecks facing death, (For the wages of sin is death...), (Rom. 6:23).

Cast yourself on the mercy of God today! "That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved." (Romans 10:9). "For whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved." (Romans 10:13). "...Wilt thou be made whole?" (Hear "The Bible Speaks" at 12:15 p.m. Tuesday on WQON 100 FM).

The Deacon's Speakin'

Deacon Bob Nolan

Scripture Reference: John 2:13-25
The account of the expulsion of the buyers and sellers from the Temple has, in John's Gospel, a fullness of meaning that is less easily understood in the other Gospels. The others write with different points of view as their starting points and assemble the materials offered by the life of Jesus in different ways.

Without going into a lot of detail, let's say that the differences are lessened when we keep in mind that John likes to present a total picture of a particular event. While making use of actual details, he offers us a picture through which he wants to make us understand that Jesus is the Messiah.

The teaching in the expulsion from the Temple has two important meanings: 1) It shows that Jesus is the Messiah; 2) It shows that Jesus is greater than the Temple which contained all of the sacredness for the Jews.

In the Temple He behaves with an authority that only the One sent by God and expected by the Jews could claim to possess. He presents Himself as son, and He calls God His Father. In the eyes of the Jews of the time, this was reserved for the Messiah. They realize the importance of His words and ask Jesus for a sign to guarantee to them that He is the Messiah. But Jesus does not give them the sign they want because He knows they are incapable of making the act of faith that would be required of them.

There has been much discussion about the words: Stop turning My Father's house into a marketplace. It is perfectly clear that the house of God is profaned when it becomes a marketplace. We as human beings will always argue that point and never resolve the question in our weak minds.

Destroy this Temple and in three days I will raise it up again. This is the answer Jesus gives the Jews who ask Him for a sign. This sign is His Death and Resurrection. In fact, Christ's answer is disguised and the disciples themselves do not understand it at the time. They will understand it later on, after the Resurrection.

Today, let us try to remember that, according to St. Paul, our body is the 'temple' of God. It will be destroyed by death. When will it be reconstructed, when will it be raised up? We know that in god's time delays are short, even when our human calculations measure time by thousands of years.

You are invited to attend Lenten devotions each Friday evening at 7:30 p.m. and our Easter Liturgies. Everyone is welcome to come and praise the Lord.

CHURCH DIRECTORY

"Gotta look that up"

Man has a hunger for knowledge. It first shows itself in childhood and prompts incessant questions and exasperating experiments.

But it continues all through life. Recently, on discovering something you didn't know, you murmured to yourself, "Gotta look that up."

Upon this basic hunger for knowledge, the Church's program of religious education is planned. That's why we urge parents to foster a Christian atmosphere in the home. It is also why the Church provides religious instruction long before secular education begins. And it accounts for continuing emphasis on youth and young adult activities in most congregations.

We adults haven't outgrown the hunger for knowledge. Most of us recognize that our scientific and material progress points up the crucial need for spiritual standards to look in. God has vital truth to impart to men. The place to look it up is your church.

Keeping Healthy

Aching Throat

It hurts to talk...you're so hoarse people can barely understand you...you don't even want to think about swallowing. Yes, it's another painful, scratchy, inconvenient sore throat.

There are products to make your throat feel better—but remember the pain has a cause. Your body is sending you a signal.

A sore throat may indicate a bacterial infection (strep throat), a cold, influenza or even heavy smoking. Strep is treated by a prescription for antibiotics. There's no treatment for viruses that cause colds or flu, but non-prescription medicines can make you feel better.

Don't let a severe sore throat go more than two days before checking with your doctor. Always get treatment if your sore throat is accompanied by a fever, particularly if your oral temperature stays above 101 degrees for 24 hours.

Elementary Notes

English Is Fun
I like to write poems. There are lots of great poems in my English book. I like to write the sentences. And I like to find out the answers by myself. We're underlining sentences two times to show the action word or words. We have underlined once to show the main thing that we are talking about.

We wrote poems. We wrote stories for Mrs. Akers. If they are good, she puts an "A" on them. She gives them to us if they are A's. If they are not A's, we get a bad mark on our report card. Some of the stories go in the school's newspaper. By Sarah Putman, Mrs. Akers' fourth grade.

My Valentine Folder
I made a Valentine picture for myself. It's made out of colored paper on a white piece of paper. I cut out some hearts out of pink and red and white paper. I made the hearts into flowers. I put stems and leaves on the bottom. I made them out of green paper. I pasted them on the paper. I made the flowers with little dots that are made by punching them out of colored paper. We are going to put Valentine cards in the folder that has the flowers on the front of it. By Billie Jo Williams, Mr. Hatfield's fourth grade.

We have Mr. "W." And we had Mr. "K" before him. Mr. "W." stands for wonderful wink. We're having a Valentine's party on Monday. Abraham Lincoln's birthday is today and we learned about him before. We learned that he had a son and he used to have no beard. And he was watching a play and he got shot. Magnets stick to metal. We had Mrs. "A" and Mr. "B." We had Mr. "N." I got a Valentine card from

Playpens and Gates
Some playpens and gates prove to be dangerous. A teething child may chew off pieces of fabric or vinyl on covered rails and choke. Accordion-type gates are not safe as openings can pinch, trap or even strangle a toddler. If using a gate, be certain it's securely anchored in the doorway. Children have pushed gates over and fallen down the stairs.

Middle School Notes

The Great Quillow

On January 27, 1988, Mrs. Fleming's Language arts class had a play called "The Great Quillow." We invited all the fifth grade classes, our parents, and Mrs. Stancil's and Mrs. Scudder's classes. Mr. Nicholas, our principal, also attended the play. Some of the students in the class were actors and some made the background and properties. The play worked out quite all right. The reason we had the play is because we wanted to have fun for a day or two. Written by Tim English and Tammie Boone, Fifth grade.

Times tables are fun. We did sets of two's. We're doing sets of three's. We're working in our math book. We're doing worksheets. This morning we had math sheets. We had to write the answer and color on the paper. The color is on the top of the sheet. On the answer, 2 x 3 is 6 and 6 is the red color.

Spelling bees are when the teacher says the word and we have to spell it right. Every Thursday we have a spelling bee. By Amy Jo La-Chappelle, Miss Johnson's third grade.

We saw a feather through the microscope. The microscope when you look through it, if there is something small in it, it looks big. I looked at the feather. It looked big. On it when you look through it, the little things spread out. Dictated by Jeremy Wagner, Mrs. Spencer's kindergarten.

I like school and I like to play outside. I like to eat the snacks we have early in the day. And I like to show the things that we bring to school. School is fun. I like to color. I like to do things in our math book. It's fun with both books. Dictated by Gary Mott, Mrs. Nunn's kindergarten.

Science is our favorite. We're studying the digestive system and the teeth. We're learning the names of the different kinds of teeth and how they work and what they are made of.

In penmanship we are writing the alphabet. We work hard on it so we learn to write well.

In English we are studying about paragraphs. We are learning to indent and you need one main idea for it.

In math we are learning how to do times, clocks, and money. By Jeremy Kammer and Kelly Taylor, Mrs. McEvers' third grade.

I like gym. We do a lot of fun games in gym class. We have color races. She has cards that have the name of the color on them. And if you're wearing the color you can run to the wall and back. We play with the balls. We sometimes just play with them. We play a game where we throw the balls over one line and the other team throws them back. Dictated by Andrew Wadsworth, Mrs. Yost's first grade.

Where can you easily find millions in real estate, sell your old car, find a better paying job, find your lost bank book, make a good buy on an antique lamp, locate a good carpenter who can repair your porch, sell your old baby carriage and much, much more?

BUDDY'S WORKSHOP

Creosote In The Chimney

I'm getting ready to clean out my fireplace, and I'm confused about creosote buildup. What is the cause, and is there anything I can do to prevent it?

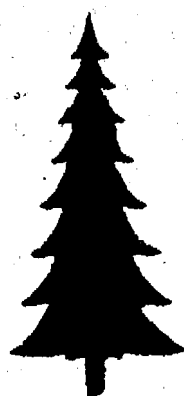

Creosote in your chimney is caused by condensation. It builds up most often in fireplaces that burn wood (as opposed to coal) and is usually more severe in colder climates. When wood is burned slowly, it gives off acetic and pyrolytic acids. When these acids are combined with water or moisture creosote forms on the inside of the chimney. When creosote ignites, the resulting fire is extremely hot—hot enough to damage masonry joints and burn adjacent timber, so it is imperative that creosote be removed at least yearly.

There are a few things you can do to prevent creosote buildup. Make an effort to keep an active fire going. Slow-burning, smoldering fires are the major cause. When there is a strong draft and a brisk fire, most of the creosote escapes the chimney into the atmosphere. Also make sure your flues are in good working order. Sometimes, when an outside flue is subject to cold winds, the vapors in the smoke will condensate on the flue and run down the chimney, filling every joint and crack in the masonry. This is where the creosote will form. Your chimney should be at least two bricks thick to help keep cold air away from the inside lining.

Our older home has plaster ceilings and I'm getting tired of repairing cracks all the time. What am I doing wrong?

Try clearing out the cracks a little more before you repair them. You must get to the solid plaster before the crack can be fixed. Using a pointed trowel, make an inverted V along the crack and refill it. If that doesn't work, the ceilings may not be repairable, and you may have to re-do the whole thing.

Doodles From The Tall Timber

Wendell L. Hoover
Park Interpreter

I'm frequently asked about the grey or pale green splotches that grow on the trees people look at as they walk through the pines. What they are looking at are at least two species of lichens, but to be honest, I do not know which ones.

I do know that lichen is actually two separate plants. Fungus and algae that live together in what is known as mutualism. The fungus has a root system that provides support and absorbs the essential moisture that the algae needs, while the algae produces the food the partnership needs.

Lichens thrive and grow where no other plants can survive. Lichens are soil builders, since they help break rock down into soil particles. As they die their remains mix with those rock particles to create favorable growing places for other types of plants. They can tolerate extremely low or high temperatures, but their tolerance for air pollution is not great. Generally, lichens are not found in large cities and industrial areas.

One source I have claims there are 15,000 species of lichens. Each species consists of a particular type of fungus which combines with a specific algae.

There are three groups of lichens. The crustose lichens are those that grow as thin flat crusts. The foliose lichens look much like leaves that have been pasted down with loose edges. Another group is the fruticose lichens which is from the Latin word for shrub. These form branching tufts such as found in reindeer moss.

Lichens have long lives ranging from 50 to over 4,000 years depending upon where they grow. They provide food for a variety of creatures from snails to reindeer and Man uses extracts from lichens to make special items from antibiotics to dyes.

Resource Review

Bruce Patrick
Conservation Officer

The Michigan Game Law (Act. 286, Public Acts of 1929) has been in effect for nearly 60 years. In that time, the Act has been amended innumerable times and is, in its present form, difficult to entirely understand and interpret. Recognizing the law's shortcomings, the DNR has assisted the state legislature in rewriting the law, making it clearer and less cumbersome.

In its basic form, the new bill (Senate Bill No. 374) was passed by the Michigan Senate last November. It is now in the House of Representatives where action is expected to be forthcoming.

One of the major features of the new law is to give the Natural Resources Commission greater latitude in setting hunting seasons, bag limits and hunting methods than it now has. Despite the way it sounds, the NRC will not have carte blanche in setting seasons. The Natural Resources Committees of both the state and house and senate will have an opportunity to review and suggest revisions in regulations suggested by the Commission. Opportunity for public input is also mandated.

The new Act will also increase some of the penalties for violations.

Although the new law is seen as an improvement, it is not universally accepted as the best it could be. As citizens of the state, you have an opportunity to express your opinion on the Act. If you have questions about the Act and its provisions, contact your Senator and Representative. This is the opportunity to better protect our wildlife resources. Hopefully, the opportunity won't be lost.

My Life would be Ruined!

Local businesses pay taxes here that support our schools, police, fire, and ambulance departments, senior citizen programs, and other important services.

Many local businesses also provide jobs for you, your friends, and relatives.

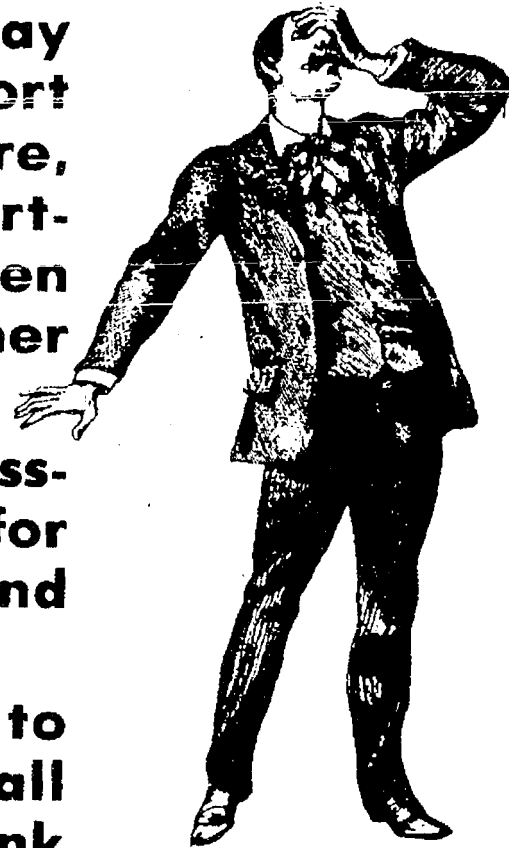

Before you travel to a giant shopping mall somewhere else, think about your community.

Every single dollar spent circulates throughout the community many times in making purchases, paying wages, or providing services.

Dollars spent at giant shopping malls make those communities stronger — not ours.

Poet's Corner

To My Teacher

You look at me and wonder
And think there's little hope,
You hammered in three little R's
Now maybe, I can cope;

Knowing my spelling is not to good and my grammar not to hot,
But if it wasn't for you, Teacher
What would I have got?

If it wasn't for you teacher
In my head you pushed some aid,
So later on down the road
A better life is made.

Verse or Worse

By Joseph D. Murphy

Mother Nature?

Many think of nature as being kind—
Some even call it "Mother".
They've seen only one side of the coin,
Some time they should see the other.

They see the woods, when it's lush and green,
With food for all in plenty.
They should see it in winter's grasp,
When nature's larder is empty.

A white-tail doe will drive her fawn
From what little food they find.
Forget the tales of Walt Disney
Where all animals are kind.

They fight and compete for what food they find.
The weak and young will die.
Starvation and cold will kill them
When nature's bounty becomes a lie.

I've went to the deer yards in winter—
Seen the fate nature has in store,
For the animals locked in by snow and cold.
I've seen them dying by the score.

Fawns lay there without the strength
To even raise their head.
It breaks your heart to realize
That soon they will be dead.

If man doesn't keep the herd in balance
With the food that's there to find,
Nature will see the job gets done.
You can bet it won't be kind.

If fifty deer try to winter
Where there's food for twenty-five,
There's a good chance by spring
None will be alive.

So, before you curse the hunter
Or call him a blood-thirsty slob,
Remember it's him or Mother Nature
That will have to do the job

Jack Alef
1988 Citizen of the Year

Alef Selected 1988 Citizen of the Year

On February 5th, Jack Alef of the Grayling State Bank was presented with the 1988 Citizen of the Year award at the kick-off dinner for the 63rd Annual Grayling Winter Sports Carnival. Alef came to Grayling in 1951. Since that time, he has served as cashier, executive vice-president, and finally as president of the Grayling State Bank. In October of 1987, he was appointed Chairman of the Board of Directors. Known to many as "Mr. Grayling," Alef is perhaps the leading promoter of the Grayling area. He has been active in the Grayling Regional Chamber of Commerce since the late 1950s and was president of the Chamber in 1962 and 1963. After leaving the Chamber Board, Alef became active in the Chamber's Military Affairs Committee where, for the past several years, he has served as chairman. He has also served our community as president of the Crawford County Cancer Society and as a director of the Mercy Hospital Board. Over the years, Alef's commitment to Grayling and to its future has been a source of inspiration for all those who work to make our community a better place. The nominating committee for Citizen of the Year would like to take this opportunity to make public the names of all those nominated for this year's award: John H. Alef II, Dan Bale, John Cherven, Terry Dickinson, Don Ferguson, Ron Fraser, Don Geiss, Bill Joseph, Joan Mattis, Larry Mattis, John Naour, Irene Peterson, Bob Ruddy, Art Thayer, and Jill Wyman.

Northland Appliance may well still be Farmington Appliance but for the owner Bob Radzwion's love of the north country and fishing. Charlotte and Bob Radzwion had a cottage in the Gaylord area beginning in 1969 and weekends and vacations there were the highlight of the year. Thus it was that as soon as possible a business move to the north was planned. - But now we are ahead of the story. Radzwion was in the Navy from 1943-46 and was involved in the Normandy invasion in June of 1944 and headed for the Pacific in 1945 for action there. During his time in service, he repaired heavy electrical equipment and that was perhaps the forerunner of his vocation in the appliance business. After his discharge, Radzwion attended a refrigeration school and another electrician school. He then spent six years doing heavy electrical repair for Detroit Edison and two years in California with that state's Electrical Power company. All of the time, Radzwion had the urge to go into business for himself and on his return from California, he purchased a small hardware company. During his tenure there, he was continually besieged by individuals asking where small appliances could be repaired. He decided to begin repairing them at the hardware company. His idea then was to also begin a delivery and pickup service at various hardware stores. He would take the small appliances needing repairs back to his shop, service them and return them to a neighborhood store. During this time he gave up his own hardware business but obtained another position which competed with his time in appliance repair. Finally, although he was

Love of North Country Creates Northland Appliance

By Don Geiss

Northland Appliance may well still be Farmington Appliance but for the owner Bob Radzwion's love of the north country and fishing. Charlotte and Bob Radzwion had a cottage in the Gaylord area beginning in 1969 and weekends and vacations there were the highlight of the year. Thus it was that as soon as possible a business move to the north was planned. - But now we are ahead of the story. Radzwion was in the Navy from 1943-46 and was involved in the Normandy invasion in June of 1944 and headed for the Pacific in 1945 for action there. During his time in service, he repaired heavy electrical equipment and that was perhaps the forerunner of his vocation in the appliance business. After his discharge, Radzwion attended a refrigeration school and another electrician school. He then spent six years doing heavy electrical repair for Detroit Edison and two years in California with that state's Electrical Power company. All of the time, Radzwion had the urge to go into business for himself and on his return from California, he purchased a small hardware company. During his tenure there, he was continually besieged by individuals asking where small appliances could be repaired. He decided to begin repairing them at the hardware company. His idea then was to also begin a delivery and pickup service at various hardware stores. He would take the small appliances needing repairs back to his shop, service them and return them to a neighborhood store. During this time he gave up his own hardware business but obtained another position which competed with his time in appliance repair. Finally, although he was offered a share in the company, Radzwion decided that he would leave that second job and open a repair shop full time. In 1964 he began the Farmington business and maintained it until starting in Grayling in 1977. Radzwion said that the Farmington business was great but the lure of the north was with him constantly. He said that his sons would take care of the shop from Friday afternoon until Tuesday morning. He and Charlotte would take off for the cottage so that he could fish and both of them could enjoy the outdoors. He said that every week when he began the trek back home to Livonia, a knot would form in his stomach because of the dread of returning to the big city. Finally the appeal of the north was too overwhelming and Radzwion decided to sell out and look for a place to begin in the area of his cottage. He first looked in Gaylord but it did not have the opportunities that there were in Grayling. He explained that Grayling for his purposes is much more centrally located. The store here has never reached the volume that the one in Farmington had, Radzwion admits. But he hastily adds that the chance to be up north more than makes up for the smaller amount of business. The Radzwions had three children, Gary, Janice and David.

Janice is the only one nearby in Traverse City. The couple has been active in Grayling and Charlotte retired from Mercy Hospital in 1987. Bob is a member of the Grayling Rotary Club and is a past president and secretary of the organization. In his shop located on West M-72, Radzwion undertakes the repairs on such appliances as vacuum cleaners, sewing machines, coffee makers, electrical tools, toasters, toaster ovens and mixers. It is a one man operation but Radzwion has a dream of having son Gary return from Spokane and working with him on larger appliances like washers and dryers. He said that they talked about the possibility when Gary and his spouse were vacationing here last summer. While he said that it would be great to be working with his son, Gary has his own life to lead and his family must make that decision.
